DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claim 3 is objected to because of the following informalities:

In claim 3, the term "enamelled" (line 2) should be change to -- enameled --.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kurogi et al (US 5,396,696) in view of Nuttall et al (US 4,743,331) and further in view of Yang (US 6,737,603).

As applied to claims 1 and 2, Kurogi et al disclose an apparatus for producing an electronic inductor comprising a coil winder (e.g. 75), a locator of inductor, and a spot electric welder (e.g. 41, 42), the locator of inductor being located under a welding head (e.g. 4) of the spot electric welder and a jig (e.g. 44) of the welding head.

Kurigi et al does not teach that an inductor connecting with a brushless DC motor via a connecting pole, the brushless DC motor connecting a single chip and a digital display screen.

Nuttall et al discloses that a locator can be connected with a brushless DC motor (e.g. 17) via a connecting pole, the brushless DC motor connecting (see Fig. 2).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at this time the invention was made to have modified the method of Kurogi by including DC motor, as taught by Nuttall et al, to positively provide spin welding together on opposed surfaces of thermoplastics components (col. 1, lines 34-36).

Yang, teaches a digital display screen (e.g. 48).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at this time the invention was made to have modified the method of Kurogi by utilizing process as taught by Yang, to provide a display having a sampling slide-wire resistance with a function converter to adjusting device of the weld force (col. 2, lines 10-12).

As applied to claim 3, Yang teach the spot electric welder is a welder that can weld enameled wires directly (col. 3, lines 52-59).

As applied to claim 4, Yang discloses a camera CCD (e.g. 5) is added to the front of the apparatus (see fig. 1).
